About Dagger DogVinci

Dagger was born in Santa Rosa, CA and is a Black Lab (75%), Golden retriever (25%) mix. Before Dagger became known as DogVinci, the Canine painter, he was working towards becoming a highly trained Assistance Dog for Canine Companions for Independence (CCI.org). During Dagger's training, he learned how to push drawers and doors closed and hold objects in his mouth, but, he was not able to fulfill his duties as an assistance dog because of fear issues, so his life took a different turn.

Dagger DogVinci was adopted by a fine artist, Yvonne Dagger. While in her studio one day during the summer of 2015, Dagger sat faithfully and watched while Yvonne worked. One day, Yvonne asked Dagger if he wanted to paint. His tail began to wag. Yvonne placed a brush in his mouth and with one simple command, "paint", Dagger immediately went to work creating amazing artwork—where each and every stroke of paint on the canvas is placed by Dagger himself.

Today, Dagger's remarkable talent has made him affectionately known as, "DogVinci" and he continues creating colorful masterpieces for the world to admire. Since the early spring of 2016, when Newsday reporter, Patricia Kitchen, wrote an article "LI's Painting Pouch" March 19, 2016, Dagger's story went viral... Dagger has since sold over 400 paintings with a portion of all sales going to animal & people related charities and causes. Dagger has donated over $35,000 to date to charity. He has been on the Rachael Ray Show, The Today Show, in Newsday numerous times, on Inside Edition, in Mashable and The Daily Telegraph UK... just to name some. He has had Eyewitness News, CBS, FOX TV, PIX11, Brazil TV, The Tribeca Film Festival, The South Korean Newspaper, as well as other numerous media outlets come to the studio to film and watch Dagger paint. A documentary was made of Dagger... "DogVinci: The Documentary." We are proud to add that Penny Leigh, a journalist for the AKC Family Dog Magazine, wrote a beautiful article titled, "State of the Art" about Dagger DogVinci. The article was featured in the May/June 2017 Publication of AKC Family Dog Magazine. He was also featured in the S. Korean Newspaper in a wonderful June 25th, 2017 article written by Eunkyung Koh. To add to his success as an artist, Dagger has won the "Best of L.I. Artist/Painter 2018." This prestigious award is the first award of it's kind to be bestowed on a canine artist in the history of the art world. Animal Planet has featured Dagger on their show about remarkable dogs to air in February 2018 as part of the Puppy Bowl. On June 23rd, 2018, Dagger's Solo Art Show "Gimme Shelter" will be a part of the PBS Show Dagger will be featured on in the Fall of 2018 called "Shelter Me." A portion of the proceeds will benefit a local Animal Shelter. In addition to Dagger's artistic ability as a canine painter, he is a certified therapy dog for Therapy Dogs International. Dagger goes to nursing homes, libraries and schools visiting the residents and children bringing love and comfort to everyone he meets.
